Art. 1

Purpose and General Rules

The Slovak University of Technology – STU Bratislava (Slovakia), the Universidade Do Minho (Portugal), the Lawrence Technological University (Southfield, Michigan - USA) participate in training and researching activities provided for the Course, being associate members of the Consortium.

Effective admission to the above indicated courses is subject to verification of the requisites envisaged by the D.M 226/2021 by ANVUR (Agenzia nazionale di valutazione del sistema universitario e della ricerca – National University and Research System Evaluation Agency) in order to activating already accredited courses; or by the Ministry of Education, University and Research for newly established courses.

In the event of non-accreditation and/or non-activation of one or more doctoral courses, any competition procedures already completed will be considered void.

The course lasts three years with effect from November 1st, 2023.

Available positions, research subjects, admission requirements, procedures and evaluation and selection criteria are indicated in the following articles and in the sheet attached, which is an integral part of this announcement.

The available places will be assigned according to a single merit ranking, according to the available positions that are provided by both partner institutions, as per the attached form.

I candidati in possesso di titolo di studio conseguito all'estero concorrono al pari degli altri candidati sui posti messi a bando, ivi compresi quelli con borsa di studio o altra forma di sostegno finanziario equivalente, anche in caso di riserva specificamente definita (art. 2).

The schedule for the admission tests, which can be consulted on the webpage <https://www.unife.it/studenti/dottorato/it/concorsi/esiti-prove-concorso-di-dottorato-per-il-ciclo-39deg>, will be defined by the Faculty Board of the PhD Course in Architecture and Urban Planning by the deadline of this announcement and promptly published.

The scholarships, research grants, and/or other forms of equivalent funding, as well as the corresponding ordinary positions as outlined in this announcement, may be increased due to additional available funding, which could be obtained from public research institutions or qualified private entities, while still adhering to the application submission deadlines.

The failure to finalize agreements with external entities for the funding of scholarships and/or other equivalent forms of research support, even if mentioned in the announcement, will reduce the overall number of ordinary positions.

Art. 2
Positions

Admission to the Research Doctoral Course referred to in Article 1 is carried out through a selection process for the positions indicated in the course outline attached as an integral part of this call.

The types of positions available for competition are as follows:

- Ordinary positions with a scholarship, focused on either a specific research theme or an original research theme.
- Positions with a scholarship tied to a specific research theme, funded from the resources outlined in Ministerial Decrees of March 2, 2023, no. 117 and 118.

For scholarship positions without a specific research theme, they will be assigned based on the ranking order.

For scholarship positions tied to a specific research theme, the Commission will verify the suitability of the candidates for the particular theme and research path. For each position tied to a specific theme, the assignment will be made according to the ranking order of that individual position with the specific theme.

Regardless of the type of funding, scholarship positions related to specific themes outlined in the Call Attachment Scheme necessarily require the completion of research activities based on a specific Project, binding the awardees to its execution.

In the case of interest in scholarships tied to specific themes, regardless of the scholarship's funding type, it is necessary to submit a research project aligned with the specific theme. Failure to do so will result in the application not being considered for evaluation for that scholarship.

For each course, it is possible to apply for a maximum of two (2) scholarships tied to specific themes, attaching two distinct research projects coherent with the chosen theme.

The option to compete for positions tied to specific themes is considered a binding priority choice.

If awarded a scholarship tied to a specific theme, declining the scholarship is equivalent to declining enrollment in the Doctoral Course.

In the event of inadequate suitability and/or non-assignment of a scholarship tied to a specific theme, the application remains valid for ordinary positions with an ordinary scholarship.

The following positions are being announced:

Home Institution	Scholarships	Research Contract
Università degli Studi di Ferrara	5	--
POLIS University Tirana	--	6

The choice of the Home Institution is binding for the allocation of respective positions.

The positions available for competition in this article may be increased due to additional available funding, which could be obtained from public research institutions or qualified private entities, while still adhering to the application submission deadlines.
